

About Michael

Michael R. Flores is a partner at NuVision Solutions, a Texas-based firm that provides managerial and technical consulting, curriculum development and technical writing services to both for-profit and not-for-profit organizations. He also serves as the President of Corporate Wisdom Board, a company that provides senior executives of small and medium sized businesses with an effective, focused and affordable methodology for process and results improvement. As a principal of Corporate Wisdom Board, Michael helped to create its proven coaching and mentoring model that leverages effective business tool resources and an executive peer review process that enables executives to rapidly lead positive change in their organizations.

Michael brings real world experience to bear on the challenges and opportunities faced by leaders every day. Michael's background consists of over 16 years of working for Fortune 500 and FTSE 500 companies in varying leadership capacities including sales, operations, general management, and executive management. Michael also has experience designing, launching, and growing sales and operations organizations from start-up through rapid growth.

By focusing on culture development, direction, vision, customer and employee satisfaction as well as prudent fiscal management grounded by sound business ethics principles, Michael's passion is helping business leaders find new and innovative ways to solve problems and improve results in real time.

Michael earned his Bachelor's degree in Business Administration at the University of New Mexico's Robert O. Anderson School of Management. Michael is married to his lovely bride of 15 years and is the proud father of a 7 year old daughter and a 5 year old son. In his spare time, Michael's creative outlet includes playing the guitar and singing for anyone who will listen.

"Smart people surround themselves with smart people."
